VARSITY TRIMS TROY ENGINEERS IN HITTING CONTEST

Hastings Pitches Fine Game Fanning 7 — Gallagher Gets Two Triples—Novotny Also Hits Hard

By bunching hits in the fourth, fifth and ninth innings Middlebury defeated Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute 7 to 4 at Troy, Saturday, in a game featured by heavy hitting by the Blue and White team. The Trojan engineers were completely outplayed in every inning of the game and Middlebury found little trouble in scoring on them.

The slug fest started in the fourth. Martin was thrown out at first. Gallagher was next at bat and knocked out a three bagger. Klevenow scored him on a single, after which Papke flied out. Daly then scored Klevenow on a pretty hit and Kilbride was thrown out at first.

In the fifth Whitney led off with a triple and was followed by Hastings, who hammered out a three bagger also scoring Whitney. Novotny then came to bat and ran true to form by knocking out another three base hit and scoring Hastings.

Again in the ninth Middlebury scored two runs. Whitney was walked and Hastings sacrificed. Novotny scored Whitney on a single and stole second. Martin was thrown out at first. Gallagher hammered out another three bagger and scored Novotny.

Capt. Hastings, twirling for Middlebury, put up a fine exhibition and struck out 7 R. P. I. men. Gallagher hit safely 4 times out of five trips at bat as did also Novotny. Gallagher gathered two triples and Novotny a triple and a two bagger. Whitney and Klevenow also hit safely three times out of four trips to the plate.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R
Middlebury	0	0	0	2	3	0	0	0	2	—7
R. P. I.	0	0	0	2	0	0	2	0	0	—4

MIDDLEBURY LOSES AGAIN TO VERMONT

Many Errors By Blue Team Invite Defeat—Final Score 12-1

After hitting the offerings of three Middlebury pitchers and taking advantage of ten errors by the Blue and White team, the University of Vermont defeated Middlebury 12 to 1 on the Vermont diamond, Thursday. Towne was hit heavily at the outset, and Coach Morey sent in Williams to weather the storm before the close of the first inning. In the fourth Witham relieved Williams. Some sort of a jinx seemed to hover over the entire Black Panther team from the very start of the game. Errors added to errors contributed very largely to the overwhelming victory of the Green and Gold.

Yarnall, who starred with Dartmouth last year made his first appearance of the season in the box for Vermont. In the first inning Whitney was walked. Hastings hit to McGinnis who threw him out at first. Novotny hit to McGinnis and Martin struck out.

Conlin hit Towne's first ball to left for a safety and Chevalier beat out a bunt to first. McGinnis hit and made first, filling the bases. Bradley hit and scored Conlin and Chevalier and was advanced to second on a safe hit by Young. McGinnis took third and once more populated the sacks. Williams went in at this point. Eastburn hit to second but was safe on a fielder's choice while McGinnis was out at the plate. Duba singled and scored Bradley and Young, putting Eastburn on third. Duba then made second on the throw. Ready sacrificed to Martin but scored Eastburn. Yarnall grounded out to Papke who threw to Gallagher.

The second was short and snappy for Middlebury, as Gallagher, Klevenow and Papke were all sent back to the bench by the strikeout route. Vermont came to bat and Conlin was walked. Chevalier attempted to bunt

Lieut. McCarthy Speaks on Summer Training Camps

First Lieut. Thomas F. McCarthy of the 13th Infantry addressed the student body at the Chapel exercises Monday morning on the subject of summer training camps. His object in speaking was to interest young men in the summer camps for the training of citizen soldiers. He spoke of the National Defense Act which divides the army into three component parts: the professionals, the National Guard, and the Citizens Organized Reserve.

Lieut. McCarthy said that after July 15, 1918, 80 per cent of the casualties of the World War were the result of inadequate training. He said that in the time of peace it was expedient to prepare for any future emergencies. Lieut. McCarthy offered to have personal interviews with any students who were interested in attending the summer training camp.

Middlebury Asked To Form Branch of College Division

The League of Nations question, as a live political reality, is being brought before students in universities and colleges of the United States more definitely than ever before. A College Division of the League of Nations Non Partisan Association has been inaugurated and is growing rapidly. Through it, opportunity will be offered for discussion of the League of Nations Question, on its merits, along non-party lines. Middlebury has been asked to form a branch of this Division, and it is quite possible that sufficient sentiment will be crystallized on the subject to do so in the near future.

The College Division of the Association is under the direction of a representative committee which will ultimately comprise fifteen members, of whom the following have already been

Demand for Middlebury Trained Teachers Firm

Seniors Planning to Teach Will Receive Salaries Averaging Higher Than Last Year

Professor Frank E. Howard, head of the department of Pedagogy, has sent in the following statement in regard to the position of teaching as a vocation. The article is based directly on the calls with which he is confronted by the Teacher's Appointment Bureau.

"Teachers trained at Middlebury College have come to be regarded as a safe investment and the demand for them is "firm." This year, however, the demand is considerably in excess of the supply. This does not mean that every teacher, prospective or experienced, secures just the position he wants; but there are numerous calls to which the Teachers' Appointment Bureau is unable to reply with recommendations because of lack of qualified candidates.

The communications received by the Bureau and the positions accepted by members of this year's class show that Middlebury has more than local reputation for the quality of its teachers. The work of the Bureau is not confined to placing seniors. It receives numerous inquiries concerning graduates now in service and assists high schools, academies and colleges in securing experienced teachers.

"Perhaps more than in previous years the correspondence indicates a strong call for men at good salaries. Some of these positions require ability to coach athletics, but many do not. There is plenty of opportunity for advancement to administrative positions for those who show requisite ability.

"The salaries to be received by members of the senior class who have accepted teaching positions show an average considerably above that of last year.

"French leads in the number and distribution of requests for recommendations. This, of course, is due to the reputation of our French School and Summer Session. There has also been an unusual demand for those qualified to teach both Latin and French. Calls for teachers of English and history have increased and should be met with more intensive training in the future."

Silver Bay Conference

It is desired that as large a delegation of Middlebury men as it is possible to recruit attend the Student Conference at Silver Bay, June 14-22. This is an opportunity worth investigating. Those who are interested may secure particulars from Shepardson '23, Eddy '23 or Rich '25.

FIRST PARKER PRIZE GOES TO HAWTHORNE

J. A. Clark, Speaking on Hamilton, Wins Second Award

Dana S. Hawthorne '26, won the first prize of $50 in the Parker Prize Speaking Contest which was held last Wednesday evening in the Mead Memorial Chapel. The second prize of $35, went to J. Audrey Clark, while Wilfred E. Walcott and William T. Hade took third and fourth prizes of $25 and $20 respectively.

Hawthorne had for the subject of his prize-winning oration, "Selling America's Future." He clearly showed that child labor is one of the greatest menaces which America faces today. He first pointed out that the American public does not realize how much child labor there is in the country today. "If the general public," he said, "fully realized the degrading conditions under which children are working, if they realized what such conditions mean to future generations, there would be but little delay in securing the necessary legislation for abolishing it. The child of today is the citizen of tomorrow and no nation can be stronger than the masses of its men and women." He closed with a stirring appeal for immediate legislative action to remedy this evil. "The choice of the method

Executive Committee Meeting To Perfect Plans For Extension Of Endowment Campaign; $43,989.83 Is Increase For Week

Continuation of the Endowment campaign until commencement, June 18, will probably be decided on at a meeting of the national executive committee which is being held today at New York. Until more definite instructions are received from headquarters local chairmen will continue to work as before, making particular effort to secure pledges, large or small, from all alumni in their territory, states Allen H. Nelson, national chairman.

For the past week $43,989.83 was added to the fund, making the grand total $735,564. Results of the Vermont citizens campaign and further pledges from alumni are hoped to put the fund well over the $750,000 mark by the end of the week but even then it will be necessary to secure $250,000 to complete the million.

It is not unlikely that a new plan of action to secure the remaining sum will be adopted by the executive committee. While the campaign organization is intact there is no intention of stopping short of the desired million.

"We have reached the point where one concerted movement on the part of the alumni can make the campaign a success," said Mr. Nelson. "If those who have made no pledge will consider carefully their finances and give reasonably to the fund and those who have pledged will seek to secure special gifts, no matter how small, the shortage can quickly be wiped out."

Dr. Henry H. Tweedie, of Yale Divinity, Commencement Speaker

The one hundred twenty-third commencement of Middlebury College will begin on Saturday, June 16, with a chapel service at 8:45 o'clock in the Mead Memorial Chapel. At 9:15 the annual meeting of the Phi Beta Kappa society will be held in the Old Chapel, to be followed at 10:00 o'clock by the Class Day Exercises of the graduating class on the campus. At 12:30 the Alumni and Alumnae Luncheon will be served in the dining room of Battell Cottage, after which the annual business meetings of the two Associations will be held, places to be announced later. Tickets for the luncheon may be procured at the door.

At 2:00 p. m. will occur the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees at the office of the President. There will be no Alumni-Varsity Baseball game this year, on account of the fact that at 3:00 p. m. the formal opening of the new Delta Upsilon House will take place, with exercises to which the public is invited. The principal feature of the occasion will be the address by Brigadier General Herbert M. Lord Colby, '84.

At 8:15 there will be a Concert given under the direction of the Department of Music of the college. Seats will be on sale at C. O. Frost's Pharmacy after June 5.

The Baccalaureate Sermon, by President Paul D. Moody, will take place at 10:45 Sunday morning at the Mead Memorial Chapel. From 5:00 to 6:00 p. m. there will be held in Mead Chapel a Vesper Service for which an especially attractive musical program has been prepared by the Department of Music. At 7:00 p. m. there will be the usual Step-Singing at Pearsons Hall. The evening has been left free for such fraternity or group reunions as may be arranged for by different societies.

On Monday morning at 9:00 there will be a chapel service at Mead Memorial Chapel and at 9:30 the usual graduation procession will be formed. The Graduation Exercises of the class of 1923 will be held at 10:00 o'clock in the Congregational Church. Dr. Henry Hallam Tweedie of Yale School of Divinity, will give the Commencement address.

The Commencement Luncheon will be held in the McCullough Gymnasium at 1:00 p. m. The seats are limited to three hundred. Tickets will be on sale at Frost's Pharmacy up to 12:00 m. and afterward at the door of the Gymnasium if not all sold in advance. Reunion classes desiring seats together should notify the Alumni Secretary, Mr. D. L. Robinson, as early as possible.

The President's Reception will be held at the President's House, 3 South Street, from 8:00 to 10:00 p. m. The Senior Ball, at the McCullough Gymnasium, will begin at 9:00 p. m.

All graduates should register immediately on arrival, at the Egbert Starr Library, where class buttons and appropriate ribbons will be furnished. The McCullough Cup award is based on this registration.

THE SILVER BAY CONFERENCE

Let us not, in the rush of examinations and preparations for commencement, forget the Conference for College Men to be held at Silver-Bay-on-Lake-George, June 14 to 22. Last year Middlebury was not represented at the Conference. That meant a distinct loss to those men who might have gone; just how great a loss can only be appreciated by one who has been privileged to attend one of these gatherings. There is an intangible something which one gets from the group assembled at Silver Bay which is not to be secured at any other sort of meeting.

The Conference is held under the auspices of the student divisiion of the Y. M. C. A. and lists among its speakers, Harry Emerson Fosdick, Robert E. Speer, and a half dozen others nearly as famous. It is not an old fashioned camp meeting with hymns of the "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder" type. It is a gathering of the finest and sturdiest men from the student bodies of our various eastern colleges to hear some of the greatest speakers of the day, to consider the fundamental things upon which our civilization is based, and incidentally to have a wonderful outing. The opportunities for baseball, tennis, swimming, boating and hiking are all that one could desire. The scenery is ruggedly beautiful, a crystal-clear lake with mountains rising sheer. The Conference would be well worth-while merely as a vacation; but it is far more than that. The man who goes will never regret having gone. The man who doesn't go can never appreciate what he has missed. Let's have a strong Middlebury delegation at Silver Bay!

GERMAN COMING BACK

Elsewhere in these columns, President Moody calls attention to the fact that the study of the German language is fast returning to its rightful position in the curriculums of American schools and colleges. In the West, especially, the demand for teachers of German is becoming more and more insistent.

Previous to 1914, the German language was a popular and important subject of study in all the higher schools of learning and in most of the high and preparatory schools of the United States. With the outbreak of the War, and the flood of anti-German sentiment, the study of German very naturally fell into disrepute. Native teachers of German returned to the home country. Others changed to more popular branches of teaching. Not only were the old teachers discarded, but few new ones were trained to fill their places. Consequently, the country faces a shortage of teachers of German.

And yet, why was German put outside the pale? Is German autocracy synonymous with the German language? Rome, under Nero, cruelly persecuted the Christians. Yet we do not black-ball the language of the Romans because of their barbarous treatment of the early Christians. It is within the bounds of possibility that the United States may sometime engage in war against England. Would it then be necessary for us to do away with the English language? It would be a bit inconvenient. America demands that newcomers learn and use her language. She does not, however, require the student to deprive himself of the fund of learning and culture to be found in any foreign language.

Some of the world's finest literature, and, indeed, much of its most priceless philosophy, and science, occurs in the German tongue. In history, and anthropology, much is available only in the German. For general, cultural value, moreover, German ranks with any of the modern languages. Upon its own merits, then, German is staging a come-back.

The policy of the administration is to enlarge the German department here, and to put it on a par with the departments of French and Spanish.

The exclusive use of the direct method in German as in the other modern language courses, the building of a German House for students of the language, the establishing of a Summer School of German, are all possible and desirable developments of the next few years. A sufficiently large number of enthusiastic students desiring German, together with a firm demand for teachers of the language, will insure their early attainment.

SENIOR PRIVILEGES

The Senior women this year have asked for something which they think would be beneficial to them from many standpoints, and which Middlebury is very unique in not possessing. That something is commonly known in every American College as "Senior privileges."

Aside from "light privileges," the Seniors are rated at Middlebury exactly like the Junior women in regard to dormitory rules. They contend that a distinction should be made, since it is but natural that they should desire more freedom and some special marks of consideration. These privileges, which embrace chaperonage, riding and walking at night, and several other small rights, would provide this distinction.

They further argue that the offices of honor and responsibility are always given to Seniors, which is proof enough that they can be trusted; and that the women at this time are beginning to think about their life-work and things of a larger nature.

And so it is maintained that "Senior privileges" would not only give them more good times to look back upon, but would heighten their responsibility and go towards preparing them for the duties which they shall soon take up after graduation.

In any community, a certain number of rules are always necessary for harmonious living conditions. However, when anyone has demonstrated his ability to obey assigned rules for a certain period of time, he has the right to expect a certain reward, and perhaps more freedom. For these reasons, it would seem wise to allow the Seniors this special dispensation, which if wisely exercised will in time be very advantageous to each Senior class.

"Write and burn" is the advice of Joseph Conrad to youthful writers, in a recent interview granted a Yale News reporter. "I feel that good use can be made of the fire, when one is writing, although I did not follow the policy myself," the well-known author of sea romance is quoted as saying.

Apparently, Mr. Conrad has never edited a college literary magazine, nor composed a comic column every week, nor supported himself by the products of his pen, for in any of these cases his advice would be disastrous. It simply does not work.

ALUMNI COLUMN

Suggestion to Alumni

A member of the class of 1921 suggests that a good way to interest high school men in coming to Middlebury is to give them The Campus when you have finished reading it. The average high school senior without doubt is far more interested in a chronicle of what the undergraduates are doing than in the printed matter which the college authorities send out.

This is a valuable suggestion, and one that if carried out should prove of considerable publicity value.

Form Alumni Associations In Various Cities

At a meeting of Middlebury Alumni held in Washington, D. C., early in the month the Washington Alumni Association of Middlebury College was organized with the following officers: President, George R. Wales; Vice-President, Mrs. Martha Meibert Miller; and Secretary and Treasurer, F. J. Bailey. There are at present seventeen alumni and eight alumnae living in Washington.

On May 12 Middlebury alumni in Concord, N. H., and vicinity met at a dinner in Concord and a New Hampshire Alumni Association of Middlebury College was formed. Mr. Harry F. Lake of Concord was made president and Miss Fannie Lincoln, also of Concord, Secretary and Treasurer.

An Alumni Association has also been formed in Cleveland, Ohio, with Prof. Lemuel R. Brown as president, Mrs. Don Belden as vice-president, and Miss Esther Boyce as secretary and treasurer. This Association was organized with a definite plan to have regular meetings in the future in order to keep in touch with Middlebury's active life.

COMMUNICATION

Teachers Of German Soon To Be In Great Demand, Says President

Dear Editor:

May I be accorded the privilege of a little space? The student body is making its choice in regard to courses. I would like to take the liberty of passing on a piece of information which I received some time ago from a traveling man for one of the largest publishing houses in the country, who works among the schools and colleges.

He said that in a short time one of the greatest demands is going to be for teachers of German. German is undoubtedly coming back. A great many teachers left the teaching of German and the natural supply has not been increased. The shortage is already felt throughout the West and is apt to become acute within the next five years.

Those who contemplate teaching as a profession will find their usefulness increased if they have this language in such condition that they can teach it. Ignorance of German is no longer a matter of patriotism. There are certain sciences in which it is absolutely indispensable in the higher branches.

Cordially yours,
Paul D. Moody.

Rev. J. H. Twichell Speaks at Sunday Vespers Service

Defines Four Classes of People Whom Christ Considered Were Lost

"What did Jesus Christ mean when he said a man was lost?" asked the Rev. Joseph H. Twichell of North Adams, Mass., delivering the Vespers sermon Sunday. He took his text from Luke 19:10, "The Son of man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." In what state of mind was a man when Christ called him lost?

There were four classes of men whom the world looked on as respectable but whom Christ said were lost.

"First, there were those that were hard-hearted, never cared about other's sufferings, and had no recognition of wrong-doing. Jesus looked upon these as being in a very dangerous state. Then there were those who were stained with hatred, jealousy, and lust, although in their outward appearance their lives were clean. Thirdly, there were the Pharisees, the men or women who play at religion. Lastly were those who could not decide whether to serve God or Mammon. They were weak men with no strong determination.

"The religious life of all four has one characteristic, the lack of earnestness with God. Because of this Christ termed them lost men and had more faith in the publican and the harlot," concluded Mr. Twichell. "Those who were ungenuine, and insincere, they were the ones he warned."

Installation of Officers of the Student Government Association of the Women's College, was held at a meeting in Old Chapel Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock. A report was read by the treasurer for 1922-1923. Martha Bolton '23, former President of the Association spoke a few words of gratitude to the college for its support and cooperation during the past year. The chair was then turned over to the new president, Edris Thayer, '24. Miss Thayer made an appropriate speech. A bouquet of roses was presented to Miss Bolton and Miss Thayer.

Tentative Basketball Schedule Announced

The tentative 1923-24 basketball out this morning by Manager Rollin schedule printed on page 2 was given R. Crane. It is not official, however, not having been approved by the Athletic Council.

The schedule, it will be noticed, is much shorter and of a more modest nature than this season's program. For the most part, the games are with nearby institutions, and with those which can be said to be in Middlebury's class. No long, hard trips are on the card and the percentage of home games, it will be seen, is large.

Maqua Delegates Chosen

At a recent meeting of Y. W. C. A., delegates were selected to go to the Young Woman's Christian Association Conference at Camp Maqua, Poland, Me., from June 19 to 29.

They are: Marion Billings, Marion Pellet Martha Baldwin, Viola Holt, Dorothy Taylor, Edna Volin, Beatrice Stevens, Helen Lingham, Marjorie Currier, Marion Wolcott, Margaret Brown, and Emily Sisson.

1925 Wins Inter-class Meet By Five Points

The Class of 1925 vanquished the Freshmen in a track meet held on Porter Field last Saturday by the score of 70-65.

Spectators were conspicuous by their absence, as were the Freshman entrants. Needless to say there was no startling display of talent. A few individual stars garnered most of the points of both classes. Whitney '25, proved the individual star of the meet, scoring heavily in the hurdle and field events for a total of 18 points. Carboy proved an iron-man by winning the 100, 220 and 440 yard runs. Fish '26, won the two middle distance runs in very easy fashion.

The surprise of the meet was the defeat of Potter '26, in the high jump by Palmer '25, who here-to-fore has starred in the role of a distance runner.

"Cy" Shelvey acted as starter, and Paul Squires, as Clerk-of-course.

Delta Kappa Epsilon Wins From Alpha Sigma Phi

The Alpha Sigma Phi baseball nine lost to the Delta Kappa Epsilon team yesterday by the score of 11 to 5. W. R. Rice '26, pitched a good game for the winners, Bennett '26, catching. Coates started on the mound for the Alpha Sigs, but was relieved by Sikorski in the fifth inning. Holquist caught. Both teams hit the ball hard, but Rice kept the hits well scattered. Lambe scored the first run for the losers when he knocked the first pitched ball of the game for a home-run.

Hold House Party at Lake

A most enjoyable house party was held this past week-end at Camp Sur-Le-Lac on Lake Champlain by Delta Omega Delta sorority. Trucks took the party out Friday afternoon. Sunday they entertained Alphi Chi sorority in honor of its recent grant of a charter by Kappa Kappa Gamma, national sorority. The girls returned Sunday evening. The ideal weather conditions assisted in making the party a most successful one.

Mrs. Allen S. Kline and Mrs. Fred C. Smith acted as chaperones.

Tau Kappa Alpha Holds Annual Banquet

Initiates Six New Members—Elects Edgar T. Austin New President

Middlebury Chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, National honorary debating fraternity, held its annual initiation banquet in the Hepburn dining hall, Wednesday evening, May 23, W. Harry Lawton acting as toastmaster. At the initiation ceremony preceding the banquet, the following six men were admitted to the fraternity: Guilford M. Austin '23, Elbert T. Gallagher '23, Philip M. Toleman '24, Malcolm T. Anderson '25, Kenneth W. Anderson '25, and John Wright, coach. These men were taken into the fraternity for meritorious work in debating, the five first-named having been on the Varsity teams which debated Syracuse, Hamilton, and Vermont this year.

Following the delightful repast provided by "Mother" Mason, Dr. V. C. Harrington responded to a toast with a few pleasing and encouraging remarks concerning the bright outlook for debating at Middlebury. Dr. A. M. Kline was next introduced and rendered a short and inspiring address along the same theme. As is the custom of the fraternity, every member was called upon for a short speech and the response in every case was enthusiastic. The desire for a larger and more ambitious debating schedule for the coming year was expressed by all.

After the speaking, officers for the year ensuing were elected. Edgar T. Austin '24, was elected president; D. Haydn Parry '24, vice-president; and Malcolm T. Anderson, secretary-treasurer.

Neutrals Take Kappa Delta Rho Into Camp

Last Friday afternoon the Neutrals' baseball team defeated Kappa Delta Rho in a close and hard-fought game by the score of 7 to 6. Herzig won the game for the Neutrals, having very little support. Savage was on the mound for the losers. Many errors featured the playing of both teams. The K. D. R. team scored 4 runs in the first inning but the Neutrals came back with one in their half of the first and five in the fourth. At the end of the sixth inning the score was tied at six all. Errors allowed Lobo to score the winning run in the last of the seventh.

Y. W. C. A. Bacon Bat

An outdoor meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held in the form of a bacon bat at Flat Rock, Otter Creek, on Friday evening. Almost the entire Women's College participated and the event proved so successful and enjoyable that the organization hope it will set a precedent. Miss Ross addressed the gathering with a few words on Middlebury as a nature setting for religious life. "From the hills," said Miss Ross, "may be gained a sense of values by which to gage our everyday life and determine what are the necessary and worth-while things." She spoke of the friendliness and serenity of the mountains and their influence upon our lives.

Miss Young spoke also, upon the subject of outdoor exercise. Each class had a separate fire and sang original songs composed for the occasion.

Blue Nine Playing Norwich Twice This Week

St. Michael's To Play Return Contest on Porter Field Tuesday

Two games on two successive days with the same team as an opponent is the baseball menu prepared for the Black Panther team this week. This afternoon the team plays Norwich in Northfield and tomorrow the New England West Pointers will come here to play a return contest as a holiday attraction.

The Norwich team made an auspicious start this season and were hitting in mid-season form when other teams were only getting started. However her winning stride did not endure long and of late she has not been playing a particularly winning brand of ball so that Middlebury has an excellent chance to come thru with two wins this week.

On next Tuesday St. Michael's will come here to play the final game of the season on Porter Field. In the first game Middlebury lost on a wet field but it is expected that it will be a close contest Tuesday when the Purple and Gold team appears on Porter Field.

Middlebury Nine Loses Again To Vermont

on the third strike but it rolled outside. McGinnis hit and sent Conlin to third. Bradley made first on a fielder's choice and Conlin and McGinnis were safe at the plate when Gallagher made a wild heave to Kilbride. Williams then threw wild to Klevenow allowing Bradley to take second and third. Young flied out and Eastburn grounded to Williams. Middlebury was unable to come thru in the third.

Again in this inning Vermont scored three more runs. Duba was hit and Ready hit to short. Both were safe on Papke's error. Yarnall hit to Williams who made a high heave to first allowing Duba to score and Ready to take third. Conlin hit to Williams who threw home to catch Ready, but Kilbride missed the throw, allowing another score. Yarnell, in the meantime was travelling the base route. Kilbride recovered and threw to Williams who was covering the plate but Yarnall was safe when Williams dropped the ball. Williams threw to Whitney putting Conlin out. Chevalier hit to Williams who threw him out at first, while McGinnis hit to Gallagher.

Witham took Williams' place in the fourth. Bradley hit to Papke, who muffed it. Young grounded out at first, advancing Bradley. Eastburn hit to left, scored Bradley and made second. Papke threw too low to Gallagher and Duba made first while Eastburn travelled on to third. Duba made a steal to second and took third on a throw to catch Eastburn at third, which Whitney muffed, allowing him to score. Witham then became effective and fanned Ready and Yarnall.

From this point on the game settled down to a serious proposition, and Vermont was unable to score another point. Middlebury tried valiantly to get her men around to the plate but was unsuccessful until the ninth. In this frame Klevenow singled to center. Daley, pinch hitting for Papke, was out when he hit to Chevalier who threw him at first. Timberman went in to hit for Kilbride and scored Klevenow on a pretty single to left. White hit for Witham and made first on an error by Chevalier advancing Timberman to second. Yarnall recovered his skill and struck out Whitney. Hastings grounded out to Chevalier.

Middlebury made five hits while Vermont gathered eleven. Yarnall fanned 11 men and Witham 2. The game was of unusual duration, taking two and a half hours to complete the nine innings. Stark umpired.

Score by innings:

lies with the voting public. If they are indifferent as to what happens, if they do not secure action from their state legislatures, if they have not enough civic pride to destroy in their own states a blight that in its measure is worse than war, then we who stand for justice will force federal action, for the rights of childhood cannot be denied." Hawthorne showed a thorough mastery of his subject and delivered his speech in a most forceful manner.

"A Nation Builder" was the subject of Mr. Clark's speech. He gave a glowing tribute to Alexander Hamilton, "the builder of a nation." He carefully traced the life of Hamilton from his birth to the day when he fell in a duel in order to uphold his country's honor. "When a youth," he said, "Hamilton pledged himself to the cause of the American colonies. He swore to fight for it, to give all his talents for it, all his learning—yes, to devote his whole life to that cause. He kept this pledge to the very day of his death. After the war was over and he had helped make Washington president, he was largely instrumental in penning the immortal words of the constitution. Looked upon as a hero, a conqueror and a friend, he was above all of them a MAN; a man who though blessed with fame, honor, and fortune, ever remained the same towards his friends, whether they were rich or poor, high or low. Hamilton was a patriot whose every thought, deed and word was for the good of his country; an orator whose eloquence stirred the hearts of men; a statesman whose principles were ever of the highest, and whose consummate wisdom was accepted by all."

Mr. Walcott discussed "The Problem of the Immigrant." He pointed out that one of the most serious dangers confronting this nation is its large number of unnaturalized aliens. "Although great work has already been done to assimilate our foreigners, inefficient methods of instruction in schools and the disinterestedness of the American public has resulted in the failure to Americanize the greater part of the foreigners."

Mr. Hade's subject was "America on the High Seas." He clearly brought out the imperative need of a great merchant marine for our country. "We must have it if we are to insure the prosperity of future generations on the farm, in the mines, and in the factory. This prosperity can only be secured through world markets for our surpluses—markets protected by American ships carrying American wares."

There were four other speakers on the program. "In Appreciation of Literature" was Gladstone L. Chandler's subject. Emile T. Holley spoke on "America and Art." Milo T. Lathrop took for his subject, "The College Man's Religion," while Henry A. Miller's was 'The Ideals of a College."

A good musical program interspersed the speaking. The Women's Glee Club gave a selection, with a solo by Mr. Hunter. During the short intermission, Mr. Lobdell rendered an organ solo. While the judges were making their decision, Miss Dorothy Taylor gave a piano solo and Misses Crane and Higgins gave a duet on organ and violin.

Mr. E. W. Lawrence of Rutland, Rev. William Clark of Vergennes, and Prof. Carl Woodbury of Norwich University acted as judges. President Paul D. Moody presided.

"New Student" Points Out Curriculum Changes

New Courses Introduced at Yale, Princeton, and Massachusetts Tech

The following quoted from The New Student, shows the tendency of curriculum changes in American Colleges.

"American Colleges are looking up. They begin to realize that the fault of poor scholarship and inferior intellectual capacity of the students is partly due to the instruction they receive.

How to Study

The Massachusetts Institute of Technology has announced a course on "How to Study" addressed to Sophomores. Dartmouth feels the need of such instruction. If undergraduates are to become good students, they must know the principles of understanding, of system, of initiative. As one educator has expressed it, "If command of the tools and technique of study is to be acquired by the college student, it must be taught as surely and as definitely as a command of English."

Princeton's New Method

The trend at Princeton is strongly toward concentration in a chosen field with a minimum of required and necessarily cut and dried courses. Only four courses per term instead of five will be demanded, giving extra time for independent work under the guidance of a preceptor.

Yale envies Princeton in this new curriculum advancement, but she cannot follow for lack of funds. Such a tutorial system would require an increase in faculty which Yale could not afford. "Bequests are plenteous for buildings but not for the men who must use the buildings."

chosen: Corliss Lamont, (Harvard), chairman; E. M. Baker (Dartmouth); Elizabeth Vincent (Bryn Mawr); Virginia Hitch (Smith); Henry E. Allen (Yale); Parker Lloyd-Smith (Princeton); Norman Woodbrick (Chicago); J. L. Woodward (Columbia); Claude Minard (Leland Stanford); Ralph M. Carson (University of Michigan); Evangelia H. Waller (Vassar); Thomas Carey Hennings, Jr. (Cornell). Representation is also provided for Ohio State University; University of Pennsylvania, and University of California.

In all of the colleges represented on the Executive Committee branches have already been formed. The plan of organization in most cases takes the form of an executive Council in general control of the activities of the branch, with a secretary and treasurer responsible to the Council and such other officials as may be necessary to meet local needs. At Harvard the Executive Council consists of ten (eight undergraduates and two graduate school students) and about a hundred members have been enrolled. There have also been substantial enrollments at Yale and Princeton.

Many well-known college presidents and educators are identified with the Association.
